Coleman's Ninth Victory Loan Quota Is $150,000

Coleman's Quota Given A $25,000 Boost Over Eighth Loan; This Probably Last Big Loan

Everything is in readiness locally to launch the Ninth Victory Loan, the quota has been set at $150,000, the town has been divided into zones, canvassers have been appointed and given their instructions, posters and advertising material cover the town, canvassers' kits have been distributed and even some bonds have been sold to two or three citizens who wished to be among the first to buy Ninth Victory bonds.

The Dominion quota has been set at $1,500 million, the province has been given a quota of $51 million and Coleman $150,000. The latter figure is $25,000 above the eighth loan quota. This is explained in the fact that the Dominion quota is larger and also that this present loan is based on the country's requirements for the next twelve months. There will not be a Victory Loan launched next spring.

Citizens wishing to buy bonds on the pay-roll plan or the time-payment plan, and there are considerable, will be given the opportunity of spreading their payments over a twelve-month period. The interest charged on carrying these bonds over the years is the same as the interest earned by bonds, 3%, thus actually no interest is paid to the bank for carrying the account over a year period.

The canvassers have been given their assignments and will be on the job Monday. They are practically the same young men who have canvassed your homes during the past eight loans. They are thoroughly acquainted with all the aspects of this loan and will willingly answer any questions asked of them.

The Loan headquarters will once again be in Sam Bannan's office on main street. Purchases can be made either at headquarters, from the salesmen who will call at your home or through Mr. W. L. Rippon at the bank.

Movies To Be Shown At Palace Theatre Sunday Evening To Open Ninth Victory Loan

All Citizens Invited to Attend; Many Worthwhile Films to be Shown; Show to Start 8 p.m.

As the result of much favorable comment in securing outstanding films to open the Eighth Victory Loan, Coleman's Public Relations Committee will again open the forthcoming loan with another series of outstanding films to be shown at the Palace theatre this coming Sunday at 8 p.m.

The films will last for approximately an hour and a half and in addition there will be a speaker to explain why the huge amount of $1,500,000,000 is required to be raised in the Dominion.

Citizens will be well advised not to miss seeing these films, as Coleman will be the only unit in southern Alberta to be given the opportunity of showing them as they have to be sent back immediately to Calgary to be placed on a northern circuit.

Among the films will be "Hollywood Victory Caravan." This is a film given to the Canadian War Finance Committee by Hollywood producers and features such stars as Crosby, Hope, Betty Hutton and top flight artists.

In addition the following films will be shown:

"Valiant Company," an excellent technicolor production. This was donated by General Motors Company. It deals entirely with the rehabilitation of wounded veterans.

"Unrelenting Struggle." Another very good feature, made up of clippings from speeches of Winston Churchill, with a pictorial background.

"Pipe-line under the ocean." A technical picture dealing with the laying of the line from England to France shortly after D-Day.

"The War is Over." A picture depicting the various ways in which Victory was celebrated in Canada at the conclusion of the war.

"Sing Song." In order that adults will be fairly certain of seating accommodation, no children under 14 years, unless accompanied by their parents, will be allowed in the theatre.

The Palace theatre and its facilities is being donated to the Coleman War Finance Committee through the courtesy of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cole. R. Shone and W. Fields, operators, are donating their service on behalf of the local publicity committee.

Your Victory Loan Canvasser...

The town has been divided into zones—identically the same as in past loans. Following are the zones and your salesmen.

EAST COLEMAN, south of the track—S. C. Short and partner.

MAIN TO FOURTH STREET, BLAIRMORE ROAD—L. S. Richards and Doug. Moores.

FIFTH TO SEVENTH STREETS, PLAT—F. Guerd and T. Holstead.

WEST OF CENTRAL AVENUE, SENTINEL, LIME KILN, GRAPTONTOWN — A. Wilson and A. Balloch.

WEST COLEMAN, CARBONDALE, WILLOW DRIVE—W. Dutil and J. Malanchuk.

Citizens can lighten the salesmen's work by giving study to their Victory bond purchases. In the case of a married couple it would be welcomed by the salesmen that should the husband be at work when they call the wife take the responsibility of making to purchase. In the past married couples have co-operated in this regard and it has saved many calls back. Please give the salesmen your co-operation again this loan. They sincerely appreciate it.

Your Canada needs millions, what is your share? Buy Victory Bonds.

Truly a War Loan

Nowadays we are being jostled by problems of peace. Almost everything we read, all the utterances of public men, tends to emphasize the fact that the war is now history.

Yet, the Ninth Victory Loan which will be opened on October 22, is definitely a war loan.

There exists no magic wand one can use to waft military forces from the scenes of battle to their normal home surroundings overnight. Unfortunately, long after the enemy cries surrender, the cost of war goes on. It is estimated, for example, that the country of Canada must raise a sum of about $25,000,000 during the present year to provide adequate medical attention and hospitalization for the men who are coming back wounded and sick. Last year, members of the House of Commons were told that at that time $750,000,000 would be needed to pay gratuities and take care of re-establishment credits to men returning from battle. One year having passed since then, the cost of that important undertaking has now reached about $900,000,000. In addition to all that, the Canadian people must meet the cost of bringing the troops home, the maintenance of our forces of occupation in Germany, pay of the men who are waiting demobilization goes on, cheques to dependents keep going out until the soldier has his discharge papers.

There are heavy domestic expenditures, made heavier by the unprecedented demands of this period of reconstruction in the country, which are included in the total of the Ninth Victory Loan objective. But of this we can be sure. The major portion of the money which Canadians will provide by the purchase of bonds in October and November is needed to cover the cost of war.

Here's What Your Bonds Help Help to Buy

Here are some of the items that add up to $1,500,000,000:

Repatriation

It costs on the average about $150 to bring each veteran home. If 6,000 men have passed through one of our fighting units—and many were up to that figure—it would cost about $900,000 to bring them home.

That's real money—but it's only part of the story. There were nearly 400,000 men and women overseas in the three forces at the start of this year. That means that $60 million must be spent for transportation alone before we get them all home.

Hospitalization

Once the boys are home it still costs a lot for hospitalization. Here are some approximate figures:
Number of hospital beds under supervision of Veterans' Affairs, 20,000
Cost of hospitalization for one man for one month $135
Cost of one artificial leg $70 to $150
Cost of one artificial arm $50 to $100
Average length of hospitalization for leg or arm 6 months
Number of men eligible for hospital treatment 600,000

Gratuities

But hospitalization does not finish the story. The biggest cost of all is the war service gratuities and re-establishment credits. As far as they can be estimated this is what they look like:
Average gratuity payable per returned man—over $500
Number of men and women who will draw gratuities—900,000
These figures speak for themselves.

THE HON. J. L. ILSLEY

Minister of Finance

"It will be of greatest importance that we maintain, indeed assure, a ready and stable market for all these millions of bonds that we have sold. We have now the monetary and financial machinery and we have developed the methods for accomplishing this and we will therefore be able to deal with any situation which may develop in a way which will keep faith with the millions of investors who are supporting the savings program in this national emergency."

MR. GRAHAM F. TOWERS

Governor of the Bank of Canada

"Government bond prices reflect the level of interest rates. A decline in bond prices could happen only if interest rates were to rise. In my opinion, the needs of the future will require and enable the kind of monetary policy which has brought about the current level of interest rates. Continuance of this policy means stability in Victory Bond prices."

War Finance Committee To Present Honor Roll During Ninth Victory Loan

The principal idea behind the Honor Roll is to create a record the community will be proud to look back upon in the years to come, both as participation by its young men and women in the Second World War and to the participation by themselves to bring these young men home and help to re-establish them in civilian life by the purchases of Victory bonds.

Participation will come under two headings. Those who enlisted in the armed forces and those who helped on the home front.

The front section will contain the names of all those who enlisted, both men and women, and the rear section will record those who supported the efforts of the fighting men and women, particularly their participation in Victory loans.

The rising generation will be able to view their records at our town office or public library, when we have the latter, and view the names of the men who covered themselves with glory on the battlefield, as well as the names of the men, women and children who stood behind them, giving them the weapons of war as well as bringing them home.

The book is exceptionally fine workmanship and is being distributed by the Alberta War Finance Committee. It is leather bound and its pages are of very fine paper. It will be truly a great record of Coleman's participation both on the world's battlefronts and right here on the home front.

The book will soon be on display in the Coleman Hardware window.

The Folly Of Isolationism

IN THE YEARS BEFORE the war, and even for some time after hostilities had commenced, a great deal was heard about isolationism and there were many people both on this continent and in Europe who failed to comprehend that no country can hope to remain aloof from the repercussions of modern warfare. It was only after the United Nations had reached a high degree of co-operation in respect to military organization, economic problems, and other vital matters that superiority over the enemy was attained, and the Allies were strong enough to inflict crushing blows on Germany and Japan. If there had been organized opposition among the nations of Western Europe to Hitler's schemes, and if the powerful "Big Three Alliance" of Britain, the United States and Russia had been in effect, the disaster of war would in all probability have been averted and untold human suffering and economic waste would have been avoided.

Lesson Learned At Great Cost

The lesson that collective security is essential for the preservation of peace and of human liberty was learned at a great cost, and it is one that should never be forgotten. It must also be remembered that isolationism can be as disastrous in peace as in war, and that mutual aid and co-operation between nations must not be discontinued now that victory has been won. Every great defeat suffered by the Allied armies during the war, threatened the security of all those who worked for the Allied cause. In the same manner, poverty, political unrest or disease in one country in time of peace may threaten the well-being of many others. During the war it was hoped that when peace was restored there would be times of prosperity and plenty. It is now realized, however, that we cannot have prosperity here while there is privation, want, and economic instability abroad.

AM Are Part Of One World

At present, help from Canada and the United States is needed to restore those nations which were in the path of enemy attack during the war. Both from the humanitarian viewpoint, and from the fact that we cannot hope to have economic expansion here if we have no foreign markets for our products, we must be willing to share our food and other resources until conditions abroad are greatly improved. When this help is no longer urgently needed, it will be important that we continue to keep it in mind that we are irrevocably part of "one world" and that if we want prosperity here, we must be willing to do our part to see that other nations are prosperous, just as if we want peace, we must concern ourselves with the peace of the whole world. Isolationism on the part of nations almost led to disaster in the war just ended, and it is to be hoped that it will not also jeopardize the peace.

Held Winning Ticket

Saskatchewan Man Wins The Brandon Kiwanis Bungalow

Ed. Dawlton, of Richard, Sask., was the winner of the Kiwanis Club's $10,000 bungalow which was drawn for at Brandon on Thursday evening, September 29th. Quite a large crowd gathered in front of the attractive looking home on Twenty-second street for the culmination of the lengthy ticket selling program.

On a specially-mixed platform, President Ernie Warren of the club, P. A. Clarkson, lieutenant-governor-elect of the Western Kiwanis district, Winnipeg; Mayor L. H. McDorman, Chief H. B. Everett and Dr. Harry Ross supervised the draw which was made from a special drum. Mr. Clarkson drew the one ticket, identified as having been purchased by Mr. Dawlton. His ticket number was Q269.

Proceeds of the draw will go toward the establishment of a youth camp at Clear Lake, a project for the boys and girls of western Manitoba. The project has the solid backing of the boards of trustees in the section of Manitoba as well as the approval of the physical fitness program.

A Root Cellar

Specifications And Plans Are Available From Department Of Agriculture

Although there are many effective ways of storing root crops on the farm, the root cellar has proved one of the best, particularly in districts where low temperatures are common. A root cellar is not only to build, and what outlay there is will soon be repaid in the saving of roots and vegetables from loss and waste through moisture and decay. Oil, lumber and materials at hand may be utilized.

To the farmer who has a root cellar, the time has come once more to make certain that the ventilating system will be in working order during the coming winter. To the farmer who has not a root cellar and is thinking of making one, the Dominion Department of Agriculture has made available publication 708 entitled "A Practical Root Cellar". In it are specifications of plans for a farm root cellar, ground floor side and front elevations, together with information and directions as to material location, temperature, humidity, and ventilation. A copy may be obtained by writing to Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

WEIGHT STILL LIMITED

Postmaster-General Ernest Berrand said that gift parcels to Britain will still be limited to five pounds in weight. He said this limit has been decreed by the British government, and added that any increase must be made by that government and not by Canada.

An acre was first defined as the amount of land a yoke of oxen could plow in a day.

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q.—Are we going to be able to buy different sizes of Kleenex and other facial tissue?

A.—Yes. Restrictions on the size and packaging of facial tissue have been lifted. However, it will probably be some time before any different sizes appear in the stores, because of the shortage of pulp supplies.

Q.—We are planning a St. Andrew's Day dinner on Friday, November 30. As this falls on a meatless day, we are wondering if we could serve haggis or if this would be considered meat?

A.—It would seem from the number of enquiries coming in that many St. Andrew's Day dinners are being planned. We have taken this matter up with the Ration Administration and it has been decided to permit the serving of Haggis on this day.

Q.—My husband is arriving home from overseas this month and will be stationed right in our own town until he is discharged. He will be living at home, however, not in barracks. Will he be entitled to ration coupons and if so, where will he get them?

A.—Armed forces personnel on subsistence receive ration cards from their unit orderly room. These ration cards contain meat, sugar, butter and preserves coupons.

Q.—How much sugar is used annually by brewing and distilling industries in Canada?

A.—No sugar is used by the brewing and distilling industries in this country.

A Major Role

Hamilton Actor Scores A Success In London Theatre

Robert Beatty, 35-year-old actor from Hamilton, Ont., scored an overnight success in the play, "A Bell For Adano," adapted from the novel by John Hersey and presented to an enthusiastic first-night audience at the Phoenix Theatre, London.

Beatty, who began his theatrical career at the Little Theatre in Hamilton, gives a magnificent performance as Maj. Jopolo, an American in charge of Adano, a small Sicilian town, who brings food and water to the starving inhabitants two weeks after invasion.

His tactics, however, bring him into conflict with the military machine. He loses his job but retains the self-respect of one who has done his best.

Beatty took four curtain calls from a warmly appreciative audience the first night. It is his first major leading role.

Encouragement Of Travel Is Needed

In Dominion. Recently this newspaper suggested that a constructive move towards Canadian unity would result from the encouragement of travel in the Dominion. To this end, it was further suggested that ways and means might be formulated by service clubs and other organizations for the awarding of travel scholarships. As it is, Canada is divided into five parts, the Maritimes, Quebec, Ontario, the Prairies and British Columbia. Lack of "visiting" among the five parts fosters disunity as much as a racial minority—Woodstock Sentinel Review.

SMILE AWHILE

Croaker: "Taint so. Why, the cat sleeps in the barrel every night!"

"Rastus," said the judge, "your wife complains that you never work. How about it?"

"Dat woman's wrong, judge," replied Rastus. "Ask her what Ah was doing de second Toosday in July last year."

He espied his neighbor coming along the road with his fishing tackle.

"Catch anything, old boy?" he eagerly asked.

"Yes, two."

"Good! What were they?"

"The 7.30 there and the 5.15 back," came the unhappy angler's reply.

After the family had increased to three it was decided to engage a girl as nursemaid.

"My husband is very particular whom we engage," said the mistress to the girl who applied for the job. "Are you faithful?"

"Have you a kind and loving disposition?" Will you—

"Excuse me, madam," said the girl, "but am I to take care of the baby or your husband?"

She coolly replied: "You can take me to the theatre tomorrow night unless, of course, you meet someone more attractive in the meantime."

He (frankly): "I say, that's very decent of you. We'll leave it like that, then, shall we?"

"Would you advise me to marry a beautiful girl or a sensible girl?"

"I'm afraid you'll never be able to marry either, old man."

"Why not?"

"Well, a beautiful girl could do better and a sensible girl would know better."

On a card in the front window of a suburban home appeared the following notice:

THE day Aunt Agatha said, "No more tea and coffee until your disposition improves... you'll drink Postum instead"—Uncle Jack almost decided to go back to sea.

But Aunt Agatha can be persuasive, and Uncle Jack actually tried Postum. "Shiver my timbers if it isn't all right," he said. "It's not like tea and it's not like coffee, but it's mighty good just the same." And that night he slept like a baby.

Postum is free of caffeine, or any other drug that might affect nerves or heart or digestion. It is made right in the cup, just by adding hot milk or boiling water. Try Postum! You'll like it too!

Shipments To Britain

Large Quantities Of Fruits And Vegetables Sent Over In 1944

From the crop of vegetables grown in Canada in 1944, sizeable quantities have been dehydrated and shipped to the British Ministry of Food. The total value of the vegetables dehydrated was $5,550,578. This price includes the purchase price of the raw vegetables, the cost of processing and the freight charges from the processing plants to Canadian seaboard points. In the shipments, made through the Special Products Board, were: 9,000,000 pounds of potatoes, 1,851,000 pounds of cabbage, 888,550 pounds of carrots, 763,000 pounds of turnips, 62,000 pounds of onions, 4,250 pounds of spinach and 155,000 pounds of beets.

From last year's crop of fruit, the Board also shipped to the British Ministry, 5,328,700 pounds of evaporated apples, processed from fruit grown in Nova Scotia, 166,845 barrels of fresh apples from Nova Scotia, 525,000 boxes of British Columbia apples, 200,000 pounds of British Columbia strawberries, and 1,400,000 of British Columbia raspberries chemically preserved for making jam. Shipments of Ontario ground white beans totalled 423,000 bushels and 1,000 cases of Ontario green canned corn was also sent.

The dehydration of the vegetables was done in 13 plants located in eight of the provinces, the exception being Saskatchewan. Total value of the shipments totalled was 10,574,323.

THE VERSATILE MUFFIN—When you're short on desserts, remember the muffin. When you're looking for a prop for your salads, remember the muffin. Having Baked Beans—mmm, add muffins! Easy and quick to bake, requiring little sugar, hot Bran Muffins offer a nut-brown goodness, whether served with your favorite jelly, with creamy cottage cheese, or with a peanut butter spread.

BRAN MUFFINS

2 tablespoons shortening
1 cup sugar
1 egg
1 cup bran
Blend shortening and sugar thoroughly; add egg and beat well. Stir in bran and milk; let soak until most of moisture is taken up. Sift flour with salt and baking powder; add to first mixture and stir only until flour disappears. Fill greased muffin pans two-thirds full and bake in moderately hot oven (400 degrees F.) 25 to 30 minutes. Yield: 9 muffins, 2 1/2 inches in diameter.

Victory Bran Muffins—Omit sugar; beat shortening and egg together thoroughly.

Corn Syrup Bran Muffins—Substitute 1/4 cup corn syrup for sugar; reduce milk to 1/4 cup.

Note: When sour milk or buttermilk is used instead of sweet milk, reduce baking powder to one teaspoon and add 1/4 teaspoon soda. 2642

SEVERAL NEW VARIETIES OF WHEAT UNDER TEST IN SEARCH FOR PERFECT GRAINS

OTTAWA.—There are 36 new varieties of wheat under test in the laboratories on the central experimental farm and four types of barley are coming up for final test in Brandon, in the search of more perfect cereal grains, according to officials of the Dominion Experimental Farm.

Varieties of wheat that are now under test have been developed from the cross-breeding of such types as: Regent by Thatcher, Thatcher by 447 and Regent by Canus. All of the foregoing hybridizing has been done in an effort to produce a stem rust-resistant wheat.

Another new wheat which has been developed, from cross-breeding Apex by S-615, has proven successful from the point of being severely resistant. It is, however, susceptible to leaf rust and has a weak straw. These will be no drawback, according to J. G. C. Fraser, who is in charge of the wheat division, since this variety will be grown in southwest Saskatchewan where leaf rust is not a very great factor.

The main breeding station for barley is at Brandon. Some breeding, however, is being done at Swift Current where they are dealing with the problems of drought and irrigation. Brandon is working chiefly with the problems of rust resistance and the malting quality of barley.

The four varieties of barley coming up for test are rust resistant. Probably the most important work at the present under way is that being carried on in the Dominion laboratory of cereal breeding at Winnipeg. Here the job of producing rust-resistant wheat is largely concentrated.

The two most successful types to be developed to date, Mr. Fraser said, were Regent and Ransom. These two were developed from H. 44-24 by Reward. Regent is considered the leading variety grown in Manitoba at the present time.

PLOT DISCOVERED

GERMANS DID NOT GET CHANCE TO FREE RADOLF HESS

LONDON.—A close guard was kept over Rudolf Hess while he was in England because the Germans were reported planning to free him in the same manner Benito Mussolini was released, the London Daily Express said. Hess now is in Nuremberg awaiting trial as a war criminal.

Details of the plot to free the former Nazi leader were discovered by British intelligence after Mussolini's rescue in Italy by German paratroops on Sept. 1, 1943. The Germans had questioned British prisoners for details on where Hess was being held.

The newspaper said Winston Churchill, then prime minister, and war office chiefs ordered the guard over Hess increased and a special watch kept for any plane appearing over his place of confinement.

IN PLentiful SUPPLY

OTTAWA.—Prices heard and other government officials said that oil heaters and stoves are expected to be in plentiful supply "almost immediately." Production of oil burners also is coming along quickly.

MANY BRITISH AIRMEN WHO RECEIVED TRAINING HERE MAY DECIDE TO COME TO CANADA

LONDON.—The British commonwealth air training plan, designed for war, will bring Canada new citizens in peace.

Canadian immigration officials in London say that young United Kingdom airmen sent to Canada in thousands for training often found the country to their liking and want to return. If they have sufficient resources of their own, or the sponsorship of relatives or others in Canada prepared to be responsible for their maintenance, there is nothing to prevent them going as soon as shipping becomes available.

What is true of the young Englishmen, Scotsmen, Irishmen, and Welshmen also is true of Canadians. Some Dominion soldiers who were in the United Kingdom from 1939 to 1944 feel they would like to make their homes in the communities where they were stationed and already, after being released from the services in Canada, are applying to return.

In respect to both the Canadian and the British servicemen, there is a slight degree of doubt. After the First Great War, scores of Canadians decided to settle in the United Kingdom, continuing the life they had enjoyed when in uniform. They found, however, that civilian ranks and the daily grind of employment were far different from the lives they relished when their home was a military

EIRE IS WORRIED

HAS Full Larder But Uncertain About Future Trade Prospects

DUBLIN.—Neutral Eire has emerged from the war period as an economic paradox—with full larders and little unemployment, yet worried about her future trade prospects.

Primarily an agricultural country, Eire sacrificed much potential industrial development in favor of neutrality.

But, on the surface at least, Eire opinion today stands as squarely behind Premier de Valera's neutrality position as it did before the defeat of Germany became a certainty, although thousands of Irishmen left the country to take jobs in British industry or to serve in the empire's fighting forces.

The country's total trade, both imports and exports, fell from $308,000,000 in 1939 to $233,000,000 in 1944 in spite of rising prices.

The war also cut Eire's imports of coal, forcing her to fall back on smoky unsatisfactory peat. New manufactured goods, especially industrial and agricultural machinery, virtually were eliminated from the list of imports. Tea and sugar remain strictly rationed.

HITLER RUMOR

General Eisenhower Reported To Believe Fuehrer May Be Alive

LONDON.—Gen. Eisenhower was reported by the Dutch radio to have told Dutch newspapermen there was "reason to believe" that Hitler was still alive.

The broadcast said one of the correspondents accompanying General Eisenhower on a visit to the Hague was told the general if he thought Hitler was dead.

"I thought so at first," Gen. Eisenhower was said to have replied, "but there is reason to believe that he is still alive. But that in itself does not constitute a problem."

Gen. Eisenhower was received by Queen Wilhelmina and had lunch with her at the palace.

ORIGINAL MEMBER

Major Bagley, North West Mounted Police Veteran, Is Dead

BANFF, Alta.—One of the original links with pioneering days in the west was broken when Major Fred A. Bagley died here. He celebrated his 87th birthday a week previous.

Major Bagley was one of the original members of the North West Mounted Police, joining the famous force when it was formed in 1874. He was the first bandman for the original mounted police band, before leaving the force to take part in the South African war. It was during this war that he gained the rank of Major.

He organized the first Canadian rifle team to go to England for Empire competitions.

GRAIN SHIPMENTS

Movement Through The Port Of Vancouver This Month Is Heavy

VANCOUVER.—Between 8,000,000 and 10,000,000 bushels of wheat will be moved through the port of Vancouver during October, George McIvor of Winnipeg, chief commissioner for the grain board of Canada, said in an interview here.

"The October movement will compare closely with maximum wheat movement of pre-war years," Mr. McIvor continued. He added that shipments will be made to a great many markets including France, India, New Zealand, South America, China, United Kingdom and Russia.

SEPARATE COLONY

LONDON.—The Labor government informed commons that it intended to constitute the great naval base of Singapore as a separate colony and establish self-government in Malaya with the British commonwealth. Colonial Secretary George Hall said the government policy "will in the Oct. 25 provincial general election for a constitutional reunion of Malaya" and for institution of equal citizenship for Malaysians.

HOME-MADE SEXTANT FOR NAVIGATING

FOR NAVIGATING—Mark Carlton, formerly Vancouver N.S., to cross the ocean in a barrel. A steel keel weighing 600 pounds will hold the vessel upright. The barrel was made in Waterloo, Ont., and cost $735. He'll carry capsule food, a charcoal stove and self-made navigation instruments. It was homesickness for England, plus a sense of risk, which prompted the idea in the first place. When his 1,800-lb. ship does arrive in England, he's sure his mother will say: "Mark, you've been a brave but foolish boy." At any rate, Mark says he is prepared for a long, grueling trip and will not be lonely.

WANT ADVICE

U.S. Calls A Meeting For Far Eastern Advisory Commission

WASHINGTON.—The United States has called a meeting of a proposed Far Eastern advisory commission—on which Canada would be represented—for Oct. 23 in Washington, but intends to make no change in Gen. MacArthur's post as supreme commander in Japan.

State Secretary Byrnes announced the meeting, saying that invitations had gone to Russia, Britain, Canada, China, France, Australia, The Netherlands, New Zealand and the Philippines. Britain has suggested that India be included. The United States, agreeing for itself, has passed the suggestion on to Russia and China.

SOLDIERS RESCUED

WERE MAROONED EIGHT MONTHS AT Greenland Radio-Weather Station

NEW YORK.—Eleven soldiers, who battled grim Arctic weather for eight months in a marooned radio-weather station at Sikjodden on the east coast of Greenland, arrived here by airplane from Narsarsuaq, Greenland.

A snowslide buried their food supplies and crushed a building that housed two diesel engines Jan. 1, 1945, but the men remained at their posts and continued to send vital weather data to the army by radio throughout their long vigil.

They lived off food supplies they dug out of the snowslide, augmented by food and supplies dropped from planes, the soldiers said.

The soldiers were rescued Sept. 21 when a coast guard ice breaker and the army transport Belle Isle succeeded in breaking through a heavy ice pack after earlier attempts had failed.

CANADIANS PRAISED

LONDON Paper Has Good Word To Say About Our Troops

LONDON.—The battle of Germany was won "on the airfields of Canada," the Evening Standard said in a column-long editorial praising the Canadian war effort.

In the future, Canada "will tower like a giant, conscious of her strength and mindful of her destiny," said the editorial.

It cited Canadian war expenditures and casualties and said that possibly the Dominion's greatest achievement was the commonwealth air training plan.

The presence of Canadian troops in Britain "realizes in its darkest hour when to the rest of the world all seemed lost," the newspaper said. "It was the skill and courage of Canadian pilots that helped us win the first great battle of the skies."

PEACEFUL HUSH

Winnipeg City Council Passes Anti-Noise Bylaw

WINNIPEG.—A peaceful hush is due to settle over Winnipeg, making it the kind of sanctuary that was the subject of many foxy-hole day-dreams. The anti-noise bylaw has been passed by city council. Subjected to much good-natured hocking by aldermen since it was first drafted, the bylaw slipped through council without debate.

It clamps down on such noisy expressions of high spirits as setting off fireworks, grenades and guns. Radios must be turned down, automobiles and motorcycles kept in purring condition, and no bells, horns or sirens sounded except when required by law.

GREEN BELTS

MAY MEAN AN END TO BLANC IN Canadian Army

RHINE ARMY HEADQUARTERS IN GERMANY.—Canadians in the occupation force are now stepping out with belts and webbing green, just like cur jeps. Soldiers of the Royal Winnipeg Rifles and the Queen's Own Rifles are sticking to the traditional rifle black, and the Royals are thinking a little about it too. But the others are getting around to the green belts, which get that way from the application of green paint, with a little varnish on afterwards. It may mean an end to blanc in the Canadian army.

UNITED NATIONS CHARTER MUST BE ADHERED TO IF WE ARE TO MAINTAIN PEACE

LONDON.—The United Nations charter is Britain's first line of defence and the British government will make the success of the United Nations organization the primary objective of its foreign policy, Prime Minister Attlee said.

Addressing a national demonstration of the United Nations association at the Albert Hall, the prime minister said the League of Nations union had done great work in the past. "Would that it had been listened to more," he said.

Mr. Attlee emphasized the intention of his government to make a success of the United Nations organization, set up at San Francisco last spring. He said:

"The reason is obvious. We have come to a period in history when mankind must either set up an institution of this kind—and not only set it up but make it work—or face consequences as appalling that the mind shrinks even from contemplating them."

"If war is to be avoided there must be great possibilities."

TORONTO.—After four years of spotty pickings the ultimate consumer may now look forward to a period of partial replenishment, especially of household articles that can be regarded as essential, according to forecasts by manufacturers. The needs of the agricultural rank with those of the householder in getting first call.

Farmers will be using less hay wire and colorful language in tinkering up without cultivators and reapers next season as new implements will be available in vastly improved supply says a representative of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

Manufacturers are making headway in stepping up production but are still hampered by the shortage of some kinds of metal. Also there is still a shortage of workers, particularly skilled men. The malleable iron foundries of which there are about a dozen in Canada, are still under federal control and strict priority governs the distribution of supplies. Very little metal is now going into war goods production and naturally the diversion to civilian needs is steadily expanding.

Metal castings production, the factor controlling output of many articles urgently needed by the public, has passed the tide and is slowly improving, the Canadian Press is told by a representative of that industry. The war crippled production over a period of years by drawing away workers from such plants and although workers have been coming back in recent weeks, output is still only about 60 to 70 per cent. of capacity in the gray iron foundries.

The common labor situation has foundered moderately in recent weeks and the big demand now is for skilled founders, said a representative of the Callander foundries of Guelph. Furniture manufacturers have a grievance over the question of price ceilings but apart from a firm stand against building kitchen chairs at 85 cents apiece from $70 lumber, they so far have issued no ultimatum. But some ceiling on such plants and the raised if warehouses are to be stockpiled was the verdict of a spokesman for these manufacturers.

LIMITED EXPORTS

Should Be Allowed Germany To Pay For Food Imports

BERLIN.—A four-power committee has agreed in principle that Germany should be allowed limited industrial exports to pay for food imports needed to support a minimum standard of living, an American economic adviser to the office of military government said.

He explained that the four-power "level of industry" committee is charting Germany's economic future according to Potsdam dictates, had adopted these premises as "working principles."

Germany's standard of living should be based on her scale of 1932, or roughly equal to that of her continental neighbors in 1938.

2. Post-war Germany's food consumption is estimated at 10 per cent. less than in the pre-war period, while her food production capacity will be only about 65 per cent. of these requirements.

KANDY, Ceylon.—The Andaman Islands, in the Bay of Bengal between India and Burma, again are in British hands after more than three years of Japanese occupation, south-east Asia command headquarters announced.

T.B. Questions And Answers

Q. Is tuberculosis inherited?
A. Tuberculosis is not a hereditary disease, but infection can be transmitted from a tuberculosis mother to a child after the fourth month of pregnancy, through the umbilical cord. This would be called congenital, not inherited. It is, however, extremely rare.

The disease has been thought by some to run in families, but this is probably because it is transferred from one member of a family to another by infection, through carelessness or ignorance regarding cough and sputum. Sometimes a parent has TB and doesn't know it. For these reasons it is advisable to examine all residents of a home where the disease has been found.

Q. Can one inherit a resistance or predisposition to TB?

A. Such inheritance probably exists, but proof is difficult to establish. It may play a part in the gradual decline in tuberculosis mortality. It might explain the high mortality rates and the acute nature of the disease among some races, such as Negroes, Mexicans, Indians, etc.

Q. At what time of life does most first infection take place?

A. During childhood, i.e., before the fifteenth year. With the isolation of patients in sanatoria and better precautions against infection, and a decreasing incidence of disease, the first infection is now perhaps being prolonged to later years.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Miners Losing $35,000 Weekly

When layoffs occur in a mining camp such as Coleman it is only natural that the number one thought that is ever present in one's mind is the resultant loss of work and wages.

In regard to the latter the earnings to miners during the past few peak years has been a little better than a million dollars per year. Taking past figures we find that when broken down into weekly units the miners of Coleman are losing approximately $35,000 a week or based on a six-day working week the miners are losing approximately $6,000 per day in wages.

Should Be Fined

In Vancouver this week one of Britain's famous aircraft carriers docked with many reps from the Pacific war. As a gesture of friendship by the British crew to their Canadian cousins they invited Vancouverites to come aboard on an inspection trip.

The invitation was accepted to the point where special police, first aiders, ambulances, etc., were called out to help control the crowd.

The saddest part of the whole affair, however, was the unsportsmanship of a number of Canadians. They looted the carrier of equipment, ammunition, four expensive navigation watches, etc., yes, even to the point of stealing from the crew's lockers.

A city-wide plea has been made for the thieves to bring back the stolen equipment, especially the live ammunition which might result in the death of innocents, as well as the four watches.

Persons guilty of this looting should be tracked down, given a stiff fine in addition to a stern lecture from the presiding judge. It's a pretty safe bet to state that other British carriers visiting Vancouver harbor will refrain from extending an invitation to the public for a friendly inspection of the ship.

Little Interest in New Highway Association

With the exception of those Boards of Trade and service clubs present last spring at the organization meeting of the Southern Trans Canada Highway Association, little interest has been shown by Boards of Trade from Medicine Hat to Hope, BC, who were not represented at the meeting. No response worth mentioning has been received by the Association's secretary to his numerous letters sent to the various bodies outlining the Association's objectives.

This lack of interest in such an important objective of an all paved modern highway running from Medicine Hat to Hope, BC, has only increased the officers' determination that interest must and will be aroused in this highway by all towns and cities through which it will run.

This winter an intensive correspondence campaign will be launched from the secretary's office to bodies within each community along the highway. It is to be hoped by the time spring rolls around sufficient interest will have been aroused so that a general meeting of the Association can be held and either Mr. Fallow or the Minister of Public Works in British Columbia will attend.

The A. M. A.

These three letters stand for Alberta Motor Association and are known throughout the width and breadth of Alberta where motorists are found.

It is an association which fights resolutely the battle of the Alberta motorists to have all revenue derived by the sale of car licenses, gasoline and oil taxes, drivers' licenses, etc., taken either directly or indirectly from the Alberta motorists placed into a separate fund to be used solely for the construction and maintenance of modern highways throughout Alberta.

It has been presenting resolutions and offering advice to the provincial government with a certain measure of success. Should the Alberta government some day see the light and give the motorist a break that victory will be in no small measure attributable to the A. M. A.

PEGGY McDONALD TRANSFERRED TO CALGARY

Coleman lost a widely known young citizen on Sunday afternoon when Miss Peggy McDonald left for Calgary, where she has been transferred to the main branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce. She entered the employ of the Canadian Bank of Commerce at the local branch three years ago and for some time has been teller. Her transfer came through for her to report to the Calgary branch Monday morning.

Coleman has lost one of its popular songstress, as she was in demand at all public concerts. Her friendly smile and willingness to help out any organization that sought her services made her very well liked throughout the community.

Miss Eileen Hoyle has entered the bank's employ and commenced her duties on Monday morning. Eileen finished high school this year.

JIMMY SLUGG WRITES FROM MONTREAL CANADIANS' TRAINING SCHOOL

Mrs. Dick Slugg is in receipt of a letter from her son Jim who is at present trying out with Montreal Canadians at their fall training school.

He states that the players practice two hours in the morning and two hours in the afternoon and that it is quite strenuous. He failed to mention the fact that he might play this season with Montreal Royals, a Quebec senior hockey club, as intimated in news despatches in the daily papers. Jimmy is evidently going all out to get in the NHL team.

CHILD KNOCKED DOWN BY CAR

Last week the 5-year-old Sprlak girl was knocked down by a car in east Coleman. She escaped serious injury, being only slightly cut and bruised.

WEDDINGS

SLOWSKI-DeHARNAIS

A most interesting wedding took place at Holy Ghost church on Saturday, Oct. 6, at 10 a.m., when Mary Diane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph DeHarnais, of Coleman, was united in marriage to Mr. Fred Slowski, of Coleman. Rev. Father Leo Sullivan conducted.

The bridesmaids included Miss Irene Rerozek, of Blairmore, and Miss Ida Holzer, of Calgary. Attending the groom were Leo DeHarnais, of Coleman, brother of the bride, and Steve Holzer, of Calgary.

The bride was gowning in a floor length white sheer dress with floor length veil and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Following the ceremony the bridal party journeyed to the home of the bride's parents where thirty relatives and friends sat down to the wedding breakfast. The bride's table was centered by a three tier wedding cake.

In the evening a party was held at the bride's home with dancing enjoyed to the music of Danny Cocciolone and Bob Simmons.

HOCKEY NOTES

Bill Fraser has been appointed coach of the local juveniles for the coming winter. This team, on paper, appears much stronger than last year and it is believed that Bill may have a provincial championship contender once the playoffs roll around next spring.

"Moose" Giacomuzzi and "Yutch" Kanik, of Blairmore, left this week for New Westminster, where they will try out with that city's senior hockey team. This team is coached by Clarence Moher, of Edmonton, who coached Slugg and Rypien last season.

Johnny Rypien is now at Edmonton, where he is centering the number one forward string for Edmonton Canadians. His team recently played an all-star sextet in the capital city and won 7-3. Johnny had two assists.

Mike Hudz, Calgary technical student this coming term, is going to be given the opportunity of trying out with the Calgary senior team. Dave Duchak has assured Ray Spillers that Hudz will be given every chance to make good.

BLACK FLAGS on U Boats

When Nazi U-boat commanders hoisted black flags of surrender, it was a "go ahead" signal to the three out of every eight Canadians who normally depend for their livelihood on export trade.

For five years the flow of foreign trade has been largely a government responsibility. But now, to help create peacetime jobs, Canadian enterprise must do its full share in finding customers abroad. This means doing business all over the world, in strange and distant cities, in a hundred languages and currencies.

Canadian banks have a key role in this complicated but essential peacetime task. Every day their foreign branches and correspondents arrange credits, handle documents and perform other intricate operations to bring buyers and sellers together across the obstacles of distance, language and custom.

This banking service is of primary importance to business and to every Canadian worker as Canada turns to the task of re-creating trade abroad to provide jobs at home.

Wm. Martland Awarded Town Ash Contract; Effort To Be Made To Organize Fire Fighting Brigade

No Concessions to be Granted Sports Association This Winter; Fences Alongside West Coleman's New Concrete Sidewalk Discussed

Regular meeting of the council was held on Monday evening. Present Mayor Aboussafy, Councilors Cox, Dutil, Jenkins, Lowe, Ramsay and Wilson.

A delegation of two were present to protest against young boys throwing stones on the houses located on main street east. The names of two youngsters had been secured and they were submitted to the police committee with the request that action be taken. A year ago a delegation had appeared in front of council protesting against the same practice.

Council was asked by a member of the delegation to eradicate weeds growing up outside his fence as they constituted a fire hazard. His request was granted.

Canadian Legion president Geo. Derbyshire was present to inform council that work on the Memorial Park was almost completed. He asked that the contract between the council and Legion be signed. The parks committee was authorized to see that signatures were affixed to the contract.

Mr. Derbyshire also asked that provision be made for a Soldiers' burial plot. The parks committee along with the chairman of the finance committee was authorized to investigate the possibilities of the ground immediately east of the present union cemetery, find the owner and if the ground was suitable and the price within reason they were to report their findings at the next regular meeting.

Auditors Collins & Collins, of Calgary, have informed council that they intend to meet the mayor and council sometime in October when they come to the Pass to audit the Blairmore town books.

Three by-laws received their third readings. The first dealt with a uniform penalty for all infractions of the town by-laws. The second dealt with Joe Malanchuk being appointed enumerator to secure the names of citizens eligible to vote at the forthcoming civic elections. The third by-law dealt with traffic regulations in lanes.

A letter was received from the Coleman Community Sports Association pointing out the huge light bill incurred during the winter months and asking if some relief could not be given by way of reduced rates. Council in the past had taken this matter up and it has been flatly refused by Mr. Blackstock, chairman of the Board of Public Utilities, who ruled that to do this was to show preference of one customer over another and he looked upon this with disfavor, hence his refusal to allow the reduction. In view of this council will not interfere with Mr. Blackstock's ruling at the present time.

Secretary was granted permission to advertise certain properties for sale.

Mrs. Nick Deputak was granted supplies of wood and coal.

It was revealed that Mr. Mike Ferrara had been charged with a double assessment and the excess money was authorized rebated to him.

The new concrete sidewalk in west Coleman is practically completed and council commend Town Foreman Malanchuk's fine work.

It was revealed, however, that fences alongside the sidewalk were most certainly not uniform, ranging in distances from the sidewalk from six inches to two-and-a-half feet. It was suggested that a survey be made of all those lots alongside the sidewalk and stakes placed in each lot where the fence should be placed. Once these stakes were in place the householders would be asked to co-operate with the council in making all fences be a uniform distance from the sidewalk. The matter was left in the hands of the works and property committee.

It was also revealed that the sidewalk cost $870 and is 613 feet long and five feet wide.

Council's attention was directed to the deterioration of the hard-surfaced residential streets. Mayor Aboussafy stated it was the intention of the council next spring to repair all hard-surfaced streets and give them another seal coat.

Hotel reservations for two delegations to attend the Municipal Convention at Calgary early next month was authorized.

Following the passing of accounts council got down to the most important business of the evening. Six applications had been received for the position of ashman to the town. Four were within the town, one was received from east Coleman and the sixth was received from out of town. Lengthy discussion took place on whether or not to engage an ashman as an employee of the town or to engage him on the same basis as in the past, he having to secure his own truck, find his own help and pay all expenses, the town paying a stipulated amount each month. After hearing arguments on both sides of the question it was decided that for the present the ashman be engaged on the old basis.

The names of the six applicants were read and marked on ballots with all councillors and the mayor voting on their particular choices. The first count gave William Martland a clear majority and thus he was given the position. Mr. Martland's application stated he had experience in this work in England and that he hoped to employ his son when the latter received his discharge from the navy in the near future.

During the debate on the ashman the question of a proper fire chief and brigade was discussed. It was again brought to the fore by the mayor when the ashman's appointment had been made. As the result of further discussion it was decided that application for firemen would be received at the town office. A fire chief would be chosen from among the applicants and that all members of the fire brigade would be paid for each practice, a $1 fee being mentioned. An advertisement to this effect was authorized to appear in The Journal.

The present fire chief, Wm. Antle, suggested that a fire siren be purchased to replace the fire bell which he declared to be obsolete. Secretary was authorized to purchase a suitable siren. As the debate progressed, it was revealed that some small towns, Brooks being mentioned, had secured modern fire trucks from War Assets Corporation. Coleman has tried repeatedly to secure a fire truck without success. Another letter was authorized to be sent to the War Assets Corporation again appealing for a fire truck from one of the now abandoned air schools.

It was the unanimous opinion of the police committee that Constable Antle had too much work with his police duties to be burdened with the responsibility of making sure a fire fighting crew was quickly available should a fire start anywhere in town. As a result of this opinion council will relieve him of his fire fighting duties once a fire brigade is properly organized.

CAR GOES INTO DITCH SATURDAY NIGHT

A car carrying four Blairmoreites and a man from Maple Leaf careened into the ditch on Blairmore Road on Saturday evening. The Maple Leaf gentleman suffered chest wounds and is still a patient in the local hospital. One young woman suffered a slashed throat and a broken collar bone, while another gentleman suffered a neck injury.

Sgt. CHARLES MAURER who arrived home on Wednesday's train after three years in a Japanese prisoner-of-war camp.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

A miscellaneous shower was held in the Italian hall last Wednesday evening in honor of Mrs. Joe Zak. Hostesses included Miss Sonja Holly, Mrs. Rudolph Yelik (Blairmore), Mrs. Joe D'Appolonia, Mrs. O. Bombien and Mrs. A. Wilson.

Whist was played, prize winners being Mrs. Joe Misson, of Blairmore, Mrs. Lunt and Mrs. Vaughn. Bingo and musical chairs were also played, winner of the latter game being Mrs. Jim Walker.

Luncheon was served by the hostesses, followed by the guest of honor being presented with a goodly number of beautiful and useful gifts, for which she made grateful reply.

No Sign Of A Break In The Alberta Coal Dispute; Sub-District Meeting Held Here On Tuesday

4,000 Coal Miners Have Gone Back to Work on Advice of District Executive; Many Local Miners Are in Harvest Fields.

Enquiry at the local UMW office on Wednesday morning revealed that there is still no break in the miners' dispute between the Wartime Prices and Trade Board and themselves in regards to increased meat allotments.

On Tuesday a sub-district meeting of union representatives from southeastern BC and the Pass met in Coleman. However, it was decided among themselves that no statement was to be made to the Press before the findings of this meeting were presented to the various local meetings. Coleman is to hold their meeting on Sunday afternoon next.

Quite a number of local miners have been leaving the past two weeks for the harvest fields where they are earning from five to seven dollars per day.

While no coke is being produced the ovens are being charged to hold heat.

Although miners in the Drumheller Valley and the Alberta end of the Crows' Nest Pass, where the strike originally began Sept. 27, have rejected proposals to go back to work, many other sub-districts of Alberta and British Columbia have accepted the recommendation of District 18 officials and are working. Out of approximately 9,000 miners in District 18 nearly 4,000 of them have returned to work.

Robert Livett, Calgary, president of District 18, said at Edmonton Sunday night he was "hopeful" the "holiday" of 9,000 Alberta and British Columbia miners in protest against meat rationing would end this week.

The district president said the government has provided meat for "lunch bars" in other heavy industries where the men were able to buy cooked meats at cost without surrendering coupons. It has been suggested similar lunch bars be set up for the coal mining areas where practical, but none has been installed yet.

"It would mean the men would not have to spend their meat coupons on sandwich meats, thus saving them for other meats," he said.

Queried on the possibility of the walkout continuing in the Crows' Nest Pass, Lethbridge and Drumheller, represented by about 5,500 men, Mr. Livett said: "If they do not follow the district executive's instructions to return to work, we eventually shall apply the laws of our organization." He declined to elaborate on this statement.

Asked about strike benefits, Mr. Livett said the men "absolutely" will not receive this. "The union did not endorse this strike. The men called it themselves and they are not entitled to such benefits."

Coleman Has Chalked Up Enviably Record

Coleman district, with a fine record of performance behind it in previous campaigns, is organized fully for the Ninth Victory Loan campaign which gets under way on Monday, October 22.

Coleman's quota in the current drive has been set at $150,000, and although this is a substantial amount, unit organizers and sales men are confident that the district will attain its objective before the end of the campaign.

Although the quota allocated to this district represents but a small amount of the $51,000,000 that Alberta has been asked to raise during the current Victory Loan campaign, nevertheless the bonds which will be purchased in this district will be of direct assistance in aiding the province to obtain its quota.

The local Victory Loan campaign organization is alert to the important part that this district is being called upon to play in the province-wide campaign, and for this reason they are calling upon everyone, to help the district go over the top.

The budget for the fiscal year tabled in the House of Commons last Friday indicated that the government is alive to the necessity of returning to peace time administration. Personal income tax has been cut by 16 per cent.

Let the residents of this district do their share. Let us all buy bonds and so aid the government in financing its rehabilitation program.

This district has chalked up an enviable record in previous loans. Let's show the rest of Alberta that we can do it again and sign our name to Victory.

Mrs. Sarah Hill Died Tuesday In A Calgary Hospital

Was a Native of Wakefield, England; Came to Coleman in 1924; Funeral Will be Held on Friday Afternoon.

Mrs. Sarah Hill, 72, an esteemed Coleman lady, passed away in a Calgary hospital at 3.30 p.m., on Tuesday after a lengthy illness.

Born at Wakefield, Yorkshire, England, she grew into young womanhood in that town. She was married to Mr. Ephraim Hill in Norminton, Yorkshire, and in April of 1924 came from England to Coleman.

While residing here she became a member of the Pythian Sisters and of the Ladies Auxiliary of the B.E.S.L.

She has suffered a lengthy illness and in addition to being a patient in the local hospital she spent five weeks in a Calgary hospital before passing away.

At her bedside were her daughter, Mrs. Marion Stansfield, of Edmonton, and her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hill. The body was brought to Coleman and funeral will be held on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock from St. Alban's church with Rev. W. E. Brown conducting.

Surviving are her husband; one son, Ernest; daughter, Mrs. Stansfield, and six grandchildren.

Interment will be in Coleman Union cemetery.

MAKING THE HOME CHRISTIAN

Memory Selection: Love suffereth long, and is kind. I Corinthians 13:4.
Lesson: Luke 10:38-42; I Corinthians 12:31; 13:1-13; 4:1a.
Devotional Reading: Ephesians 6:1-9.

The Text Explained With Comments

A Home Visit. Love to be loved to stay, Luke 10:38-42. During his public ministry Jesus was homeless: "The foxes have holes and the birds of the air have nests," he said, "but the Son of man hath not where to lay his head." There was one home of which we know, however, where he was a frequent visitor. It was the home of a certain woman named Martha who "received him into her house." On the occasion which Luke tells us Mary sat at the Lord's feet and listened to him but Martha bustled about, cumbered, distracted, with her duties. Martha was preparing to meet her guest, but Martha was too busy attending to them that she grew worried.

It is very easy to become distracted with things to do. You have found it so. Duties in the home, social duties, church duties, a thousand others—and never more than today—press in upon men and women alike, distracting us with the multiplicity of things that must be done. We are so busy that very rarely in the lines of care begin to show themselves on our foreheads. We are so busy that the health gives way, and when we ought to be at our best we are useless. We are so busy doing things that the Master waits in vain for an opportunity to speak the word of instruction, inspiration or reproof that he sees we so much need." (N. Fay Smith).

So worried was Martha that she spoke her mind, even though her words of blame included her loved Master: "Lord," she exclaimed, "dost thou not care that my sister did leave me to serve alone?" Did her therefore that she help me.

Tenderly Jesus repeated her name, "Martha, Martha," and gently chided her; thou art anxious and troubled about many things, but one thing is needful. Perhaps the last clause indicates that Martha was preparing to do a meal, one of too many dishes: Martha suggests for Jesus' words, "But one dish is needful." And then Jesus commended Mary for her part in sitting at his feet listening to him. He did not wish to visit to weary Martha; he wished her to have time to attend to his spirit's needs of sympathetic listener, as was her usual custom, judging by the use of the word "also" in verse 39.

Canadian Troops Were Unofficial Ambassadors To England

(By Michael O'Mara)

One of Canada's ace war correspondents is home after more than five years on the battlefronts of Italy and Western Europe, and in war-ravaged Britain—and is mighty glad to be going back to Canada.

Douglas Amaron, lean, 30-year-old newspaperman who reported for the Canadian Press many of the most vital and violent—battles which Canadian troops fought in the second Great War, docked in New York recently from London, and proceeded by plane to Montreal.

A man whose business is to tell the exploits of others, Amaron was reluctant to talk about his own adventures in Italy, Holland and Germany. When he did admit to having witnessed hot actions—at dangerously close range—it was with masterly understatement.

But about the Canadian troops and the people of Britain he was willing to talk at length.

"The Canadians were as great as anyone ever said they were," he remarked. "They were the best advertisement Canada ever had."

The people of Britain were tremendously grateful to Canada on several counts—because her troops helped man the coastal defenses when a German invasion seemed likely; because it was Canadians who cleared the flying-bomb and V-2 nests in the late months of the war; because of Canada's generous mutual-aid program which still is bringing comfort to the hungry, ill-clothed British public.

Because of the respect and admiration for Canadian servicemen, and through new knowledge gained of the Dominion by meeting these unofficial ambassadors, Britons now are far more interested in Canada than they were five years ago, Amaron said. When I went over there in July, 1940, a Canadian just about had to have a quip to get his name in the English papers. Now they are full of Canadian news as much in one day as there used to be in a month.

SELECTED RECIPES

HONEY TO THE RESCUE

The first new honey of the season is available and a good cup in good use. Honey is the sweetest of the sugar substitutes. Although honey contains about 20 per cent. moisture, moisture for measure, it has about the same sweetening power as sugar. The characteristic flavor of honey is imparted to the foods with which it is sweetened. Honey gives a delicately pleasing flavor to cake frostings, meringues and custards. It may be used to sweeten cooked fruits, or to glaze baked ham, sweet potatoes and carrots.

Since sugar has become a scarce item, honey has been playing an important role in many recipes. Here is a "honey" of a candy recipe to start off the season.

HONEY HAPPIES
1 cup brown sugar
3 tablespoons honey
1 tablespoon butter
2 cups corn flakes
Mix brown sugar and honey in small saucepan. Cook over moderate heat stirring constantly until sugar is dissolved and mixture bubbles. Stir in butter. Pour over corn flakes which have been measured into buttered bowl. Mix well. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto waxed paper. Let stand until cool. Yield: 20 1/2 inch candies.

CUSTARD SAUCE

1 egg
2 tablespoons sugar
Pinch of salt
1 cup scalded milk
1/4 teaspoon vanilla
Beat eggs slightly; add sugar and salt. Gradually stir in scalded milk. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly until mixture coats a metal spoon. Remove from heat; add vanilla. Cool.

HUNGRY AND NAKED

The Pitiful Picture of Children in War-Ravaged Europe

Europe's children now go to school. They read, learn and wonder—and many, maybe, weep in silence. They are ill-clothed, and ashamed. It is not an easy thing for any child to sit day after day in rags and study through long hours, figure out arithmetical problems about apples, oranges and bags of candy, read stories of Allahin and his wonderful lamp, the Beautiful Land of Nod and other things where plenty is taken for granted; to study in geography where countries produce sugar, fine lace and woollen garments, and to read about distant climates and other times, then trudge wearily home with the knowledge there are no decent clothes there, and but little and tasteless food in the pantry. Such is destructive to a child's mind and damaging to morale. The child wonders why all these great and good things are in the world, but none where he is living. "Why are they not here, Mummy?" the longing little soul might innocently ask. Such, however, is the tragic reality of the world in which millions of children are growing up. They look at their own tattered clothes and feel ashamed, and would rather not go to school. A poignant note comes from the Greek island of Samos. The letter, received recently by Basil K. Salamis of Montreal, secretary of the Greek War Relief Fund in Canada, was from his mother. She told of the old home and the family, then added: "Please send us a bundle of used clothes because we are naked. I have a great need for clothes because the Nazis have taken everything away from us. Vagelis has grown up. He has no clothes to wear and, with the rage, he is ashamed to go to school." It is to relieve such tragic conditions that Canadians must put their shoulders to the wheel. The National Clothing Collection is planned to bring this relief. The people of Canada are asked to give all the serviceable used clothing they can spare without replacement. These same clothes will shield many a far-away child from shame and the bitterness of winter.

Producing Materials As Tough And More Elastic Than Steel

During the war the impregnation of wood with plastics replaced materials as tough as and more elastic than steel. The lamination of plywood with new plastic glues furnished the fuselage for the Mosquito bomber. Advertisements of new speed boats, tugs and similar craft made from these materials, all of which have been predicted for the time when the war ended, point to possibilities in this field.

New skills no doubt are demanded for the production of such products. But the training is obtainable if the materials are available. The coast of British Columbia and the nature of its resources provide a real market for such production. Are we looking forward to such utilization or backward to the days that have gone with the war? Is the plywood which we manufactured in great quantities in British Columbia, and for which mills were specially located and expanded, still in such demand that it is not available for local use?

It might be suggested that the available authorities be consulted and that the available opportunities be explored and, if warranted, exploited. Let us make use of every opportunity, not bewail those that exist no more. We must look forward not backward.—Victoria Times.

German Picture Shows Why The Captain Won The Victoria Cross

A picture, taken from the files of the Germans, illustrates how the Victoria Cross was won by the captain of the destroyer Glowworm, nearly five years ago. It shows the gallant but hopeless fight against a ship immensely superior in arms, the German heavy cruiser Hipper.

The photograph taken from the bridge of the Hipper just before the destroyer sank, reveals the Glowworm laying a smoke screen 400 yards ahead of the bow of the German cruiser, and in the process of firing two torpedoes. Both missed, passing down each side of the Hipper.

Will Not Fail

Great Britain Has The Courage And Determination To Go Forward

The achievements of British science and engineering in the war years will bear comparison with those of any state. Nation self-discipline purposeful will to sacrifice, never stood higher than in the months of decision. It would be strange if the energy, courage and determination which led Great Britain to consider every asset expendable when the stake was freedom should fail her now when the problem is to employ a comparable effort in replenishing the pot.

If there has to be a shedding of crocodile tears it would seem safer to wait awhile. Statistics alone will neither make nor unmake a Great Power.

To consider British influence as a mere reflection of Bank of England balances, battleships and battalions is to simplify the picture altogether too much. In their best moments the British have stood for something positive in Europe and the world.—Sydney Post-Record.

Health LEAGUE of CANADA presents TOPICS of VITAL INTEREST

TO CONSERVE CHILDREN'S HEALTH

Conservation of child health is of vital importance to the future of Canada. Hon. Brooke Claxton, Minister of National Health and Welfare, said in an "Immunization Week" message.

In drawing attention to this annual observance sponsored by the Health League of Canada in co-operation with health departments, Mr. Claxton said that since the beginning of the war 200,000 Canadian children have been stricken with diphtheria, whooping cough and scarlet fever, and that 4,000 died.

"All these cases could have been easily prevented," the minister said. "Advances in modern preventive medicine have given a definite, safe, easy and economical means of prevention. That means is vaccination and inoculation."

"Health departments throughout the country unite with the Health League of Canada during National Immunization Week to call to public attention, particularly parents, the importance of protecting children against these preventable diseases. Every child should be protected against smallpox, diphtheria, whooping cough and scarlet fever before his birthday."

Mr. Claxton suggested that Canadian parents urge 200,000 Canadian children to contribute to conservation of child health by taking their children to their doctors or to hospital clinics or to public health authorities. The special measures which medical science had provided to advance these diseases should be adopted.

"Your child cannot protect himself," Mr. Claxton said. "You must do it for him."

FROM "POP" TO MILK

The sugar shortage has brought about an increased consumption of milk due to reduction in the manufacture of soft drinks which consumes large quantities of sugar. The Agricultural Department of the Canadian National Railways reports that in Nova Scotia, restaurants are purchasing more milk from the dairies and offering milk drinks to the public as a substitute for the soft varieties.

HE-MAN

—By—
JACK LONDON BERKEBILE

McClure Newspaper Syndicate

Mazie Larue pushed her red hair back from her forehead, smiled and gave Joe Benson an appraising look out of worldly-wise green eyes. "You're a nice guy, Joe," she drawled, "but you just haven't got it like it takes. Me, I like a he-man. Like Morelli, the lion tamer, fer instance." Mazie sighed. "Now there's a man!"

Joe leaned his elbows on the ledge of the Ferris wheel ticket booth and his eyes were wistful. "These guys don't always make the best husbands, Mazie," he said sagely. "Just because I'm a little guy doesn't mean I don't love you more than he does."

Mazie giggled. "It's Tuesday. Now run along, Joe. Here's some customers."

Joe Benson slouched dejectedly along the crowded midway. From the hot dog concessions came the strong smell of peppers and onions frying, and raucous-vocal barkers spewed in front of the side shows. Things were definitely on the upswing for Weiner Brothers' circus.

For everybody, decided Joe, except for him. How in thunder could he help being only five feet tall? Old Weiner claimed he'd never had a better bookkeeper than Joe Benson. That mug Morelli! Just two hundred pounds of brawn, and no brains to go with it. Dames! They tell for guys like that!

He was making his rounds on the midway, supplying the concessions with change, when Zeus, the fire-eater, called. "Hi, Joe, get me a hamburger with onions, will you? Haven't had lunch."

"Sure," Joe yelled absently. He ambled over to a counter, bought a sandwich and stroked back. Zeus said, "Thanks," and bit into the sandwich. Then he looked at Joe in disgust. "I said a hamburger with onions," he growled, "and you bring a Wiener with mustard!"

The soft, summer dusk crept over the show grounds, and the lights shone with subdued radiance in the blue twilight. Joe Benson stood in front of the animals and looked at the twelve cages of lions. Morelli was teasing the beasts huge red chunks of beef, and the lions growled and drooled. From her booth at the Ferris wheel Mazie watched Morelli in admiration as he moved from cage to cage, huge and hairy.

Morelli finished feeding the lions and sat down on a prop box. Morelli had never liked Joe. Mazie was a smart girl. She played Joe off Morelli one against the other, convincing each she preferred the other.

At eight o'clock Morelli hid in the shadows just beyond his domain. In his hand he carried a long, pronged steel rod.

At eighteen-thirty he heard the hysterical shrieks of women and saw the mad scurry of the midway. Silhouetted against the light of the Ferris wheel stood a lion. And then he saw Joe Benson walk up and take the heart of the lion by the nose, lead him back to the cage. Morelli cursed softly: "Of all the..."

It was after midnight when Joe burst into Morelli's tent. He swaggered with a new confidence. He swung Morelli's lamp hand. "It worked, Morelli!" he exclaimed. "Marie and I are getting married tomorrow!"

Morelli scowled. "Didn't you have no trouble at all with that lion?" he growled, puzzled.

Joe beamed. "It was easy as pie, Morelli. My memory's getting better, too. I went straight up to that second cage on the right, just the way you told me!"

✦ Farmer in the Petrolia district advertised: "Wanted—a tank for watering cattle six feet wide" . . . The oldest living graduate of Acadia University (NS) is Dr. Ingram B. Oakes, 97, who now resides at Wolfville. He graduated in 1872. . . . From the land immortalized by Robert Service we got some of our tallest stories. To bring home some cattle, he bought, Mr. Allen took them by truck from Dawson Creek to his home at Hayes, Alaska, 15 miles from Skagway, a mere 1300 miles. . . . At the annual stock sale at Okanagan Falls, B.C., 891 had went for a record figure of $72,998. . . . Rebecca Lewis of Grenfell, Ont., who died recently in her 96th year, did not require glasses until her 98th year. . . . Val d'Or, Que., has a new town blylaw providing a one per cent. assessment against all vacant lots served by mains and sewers.

✦ Who says there is a housing shortage. If you happen to be near there, Mrs. A. R. Cox, North Road, Abbotsford, Que., advertises room and board "in a new $22,000 home with modern conveniences, including ultra-violet ray windows with cross circulation. . . . New spring filled mattresses, fresh home cooked foods, and long distance panoramic view, etc."

✦ Mistaken identity as related in the Montreal (Sask.) Journal. Recently a corpse arrived at Milverton on the northbound C.N.R. passenger train, which at first was believed to be the body of the late Miss Jean Kines, who died in New York city. But on opening the rough box it was found to contain the body of a man. A brief investigation revealed that it was a Mr. Steinfeld, Detroit, and should have been sent to St. Thomas.

As the south-bound train was still at the station the body was immediately sent south on that train. Just how the mishap occurred is not known.

✦ Little post-war industries: At Sussex, N.E., machinery is being installed in a building for the production of pearl essence from fish scales, and 40 people will be employed in the plant.

✦ We'll keep it anonymous, but here's an authentic clipping from an Alberta paper: "Apparently a government housing inspector was making his rounds of a well known Alberta city. In one small room he discovered four families, each in its own corner, and obtaining warmth by means of a small stove in the centre of the room. All apparently were the best of spirits, quite content with their quarters. However, the age old 'bug bear' of the rooming house made its appearance to break the serenity of the happy group. Yes, all was well until one of the group decided to take in boarders."

✦ Wheatley takes a bow for putting on something for citizens of the district, advertising "Free Concert Every Saturday Night," and last Saturday's fare was a "moving picture, a specialty act by professional entertainers from Detroit, old time fiddlers' contest and square dances on stage."

The Amburbuster, Ont. Echo gives Wheatley an editorial Ramsay, Weyburn, Sask.: "Adult, young people, children get-togethers are the salvation for any delinquent problem which might arise in a community."

MEET A CWAC—
Pte. Ruby Walker, Quill Lake, Sask., enlisted in the Canadian Women's Army Corps at Regina, in July, '44. Immediately following her basic training at Kitchener, Ont. Ruby was posted to No. 13 V.T.S., Edmonton, Alta., where she attended an eight weeks' clerk's course. On completion of her course, she was sent to No. 122 Infantry Training Centre, Maple Creek, Sask., where she worked in Records' Office. "Working in a training centre has been the most interesting, by far, of my army career," stated Pte. Walker. In the latter part of July, 1945, Ruby was posted back to her place of enlistment, and since that time has been working in the Rehabilitation Wing of No. 12 District Depot. "The last step a soldier takes before finding himself on civvie street," Ruby explained cheerfully. Prior to her enlistment in the Canadian Women's Army Corps, Pte. Walker attended school at Quill Lake.

ARMY 200—
The latest lad in the Dominion of CWACDOM is animals—the stuffed variety. A visit to the CWAC barracks in Regina, Sask., reveals many interesting and ornamental "pets" propped on the beds of the Army girls. For instance there was "Hector" the horse, a streamlined model in brown velvet, with the most soulful downcast eyes one could imagine, to say nothing of his flowing mane and tail of beige wool. Living with Hector was a sweet little "wabbit" in blue, with a real funny-wazzy tail of white fur. Minnie and Mickey Mouse live just across the hall, and they are really something! Minnie, cutting quite a dash in a plaid pleated wool skirt, and Mickey, in bright red velvet pants. Other pets include everything from cuddly teddy bears, down to bronze squirrels and life-like Bambi. Every morning, after smoothing their top blankets to perfection for the critical eye of the orderly officer, the girls place their colorful pets on their bunks and dash off to work.

A Lucky Find
Victory Ship Crew Picked Up 250 Pounds Of Ambergris
A floating treasure—about 250 pounds of rare expensive ambergris—has been found by the crew of the victory ship Santiago Iglesias, chemical analysis revealed at New York. Crew members found the gray mass of substance floating in the ocean off the Azores, fished it up and brought it back to port with them.

Ambergris, a waxlike secretion of sperm whales is used in the manufacture of perfumes. It is worth $1,000 a pound.

Makes Young Mothers Smile!
Modern Way Relieves Miseries of Colds Pleasantly—During Night
Today, the modern way most mothers use to relieve the miseries of colds is to rub Vicks VapoRub on the throat, chest and back at bedtime. Results are so good because VapoRub . . .

Penetrates deep into cold-irritated bronchial tubes with its special, medicinal vapors. Stimulates chest and back surfaces like a warming poultice.

Then For Hours VapoRub's special action keeps on working. Invades restful sleep. Often by morning most of the misery of the cold is gone!

Happened by millions of users, VapoRub's special penetrating-stimulating action works just fine! So be sure you get the one and only VICKS VAPORUB.

Here's a SENSIBLE way to relieve MONTHLY FEMALE MISERY
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound not only helps relieve monthly pain but also accompanying nervous, tired, high-strung feelings—when due to functional periodic disturbances. It's one of the most effective medicines for this purpose. Pinkham's Compound helps nature. Follow label directions. Try it!

Canada Makes Blue Cheese—Penicillin Does It—
"Blue Canadian Cheese", one of the latest developments produced by the dairy research department of the Ontario Agricultural College, contains a type of penicillin. A mould of the penicillin type, bearing the name Penicillium Roqueforti for the same family as "Penicillium Notatum", from which the famous drug is made, is used to make a pure mould culture which produces the distinguishing blue mould in the cheese from which the new product derives its name. Prof. W. H. Sproule, head of the dairy research department in Guelph, Ont., said the cheese would "certainly do no harm to the consumer." It has appearance, flavor and quality the new product is expected to provide keen competition for imported brands like French Roquefort, which is made from sheep's milk and aged in the Roquefort caves. Ken Betzner, T. L. Kennedy and Helen Davies try a sample in photo above.

Many People Make Themselves Real Nuisance Over The Telephone
Unquestionably, the world contains too many people who use the telephone to afflict their fellow-mortals; notably those who ring us up when we are tuned in on our favorite program, or when we are absorbed in the adventures of a fiction heroine. Along with these are too many people, unknown to us, who, upon hearing our polite, "Hello!" invariably demand, "Who is this?" Bitter experience often provokes us into trying to reduce the great number of these people by replying, icily, "Who is it that you want, please?" But they are not to be crushed. They come back with, "Say, what's the matter with you? What number have I got?" There are too many such people in the world. Entirely too many—New York Times.

The Alaska Highway

Some Action Should Be Taken To Keep The Road In Repair

Reports brought back from the Alaska Highway by the Great Falls fact-finding party which recently drove from Whitehorse to Edmonton would indicate that something ought to be done to crystallize opinion lest the feeling of relief that the war is over should result in the abandonment of the millions spent on the road when Alaska and Canada were threatened with Japanese invasion in 1942.

We can hardly imagine that the Canadian-American joint defence board would, for the sake of a few million dollars a year, abandon a highway which it took so many millions to build. It is said that the highway, which cost about as much as a battleship to build, can be maintained for even less than it costs yearly to keep the battleship in commission. We haven't heard that this time we're going to scrap our battleships as we did after the last war. Nor should we, from a purely defence standpoint, scrap the Alaska Highway. Lethbridge Herald.
